

THE UNIVERSITY of NORTH CAROLINA
GREENSBORO

Course Announcement: Spring 2015 Wed. 4 to 7

Community Engaged Research and Practice SES/ELC/TED 770

Co-taught by faculty from three distinct School of Education Departments:
Dr. Belinda Hardin, Specialized Education Services
Dr. Silvia Bettez, Educational Leadership and Cultural Foundations and
Dr. Jeannette Alarcón, Teacher Education and Higher Education
Doctoral students from all departments and disciplines welcome.

Course Description

We will explore the history, theory, ethics, and reporting of community engaged research with an emphasis on positionality and reflexivity. In this UNCG Service Learning (SL) course, students will create community partnerships and engage in research practices in community settings.

Prerequisites

This course is for doctoral students who have already taken at least one research methods course. Please contact one of the professors to discuss requirements before enrolling in the course.

Sponsored by

Coalition of Diverse Language Communities (CDLC)

Community Engaged Research and Practice Spring 2015 Wednesdays 4:00 to 7:00