

2016-2017 SOE graduate student publishing workshops

Working Papers in Education is an annual, peer-reviewed, online journal managed by graduate students of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro's School of Education. It is committed to providing a venue for UNCG School of Education graduate students to share their research and contribute to academic dialogue. The journal publishes full-length conceptual, methodological, and empirical papers in education research.

There are a variety of ways to get involved in Working Papers in Education: journal editor, contact editor, reviewer, copy editor, production and design, and paper author. Come to our meetings to learn more.

Thursday, December 1st, 1pm-3pm SOEB 301

Preparing a course paper for submission: Why and how

Tuesday, February 7th, 3pm-5pm SOEB 301

Peer-review process: Reviewing papers from your colleagues

Tuesday, March 7th, from 3pm-5pm SOEB 301

Author/editor relationship: Communication, expectations, & encouragement

Tuesday, April 4th, 3pm-5pm SOEB 301

Author support: Get feedback, support, and a space to write and/or discuss goals

Tuesday, May 2nd, 3pm-5pm SOEB 301

Copy-editing and publishing

Contact: Faculty Advisor Dr. Jamie Schissel <jlschiss@uncg.edu>
<https://libjournal.uncg.edu/index.php/wpe/index>